

About Me

I'm Linda A. Hamilton, owner and senior writer at Hamilton Writing Services.

I've been writing for 18+ years and specialize in writing professional career and communication content such as compelling résumés, cover letters and content for businesses of all trades and sizes.

You benefit from my 13 years of corporate experience by the knowledge and unique insight into your challenges, opportunities and critical differentiators facing job searchers re-entering the market or seeking career advancement. I pioneered "Personalized Professional Profiles" to capture your brand and promote your unique style.

Because I was laid off, I relate to your stresses, concerns, and job search needs. As a business owner and entrepreneur, I understand what it takes to start a business and manage or work for one.

My passion is partnering with my clients to evaluate your résumé or business content needs to create polished materials that outshine your competition.
